(Academic Degrees- Fellowships and Associations)

Tamer Elsawy is currently a Lecturer in Tourism Department in the Faculty of Tourism and Hotel Management, Pharos University in Alexandria (PUA). He has obtained a Master and PhD Degree in Tourism Planning from the University of Alexandria.

In addition to his academic experience for about 5 years in PUA, he served as Assistant Manager at Four Seasons Hotel, Alexandria, Egypt, and Baku, Azerbaijan for about 8 years, where he gained a lot of experience in dealing with different nationalities and cultures as a part of such a multi-national company. He was also the responsible for training and people development in his department at FS Hotel for more than 6 years which gave him strong coaching skills.

Currently, he is a trainer at the Education Development Center (EDC) of Pharos University. He is the faculty general academic advisor, the official spokesman who is responsible for updating its website, the coordinator of the faculty annual international conference with the participation of more than 30 countries, member of Quality Assurance Center (QAC), and the international relations coordinator of the faculty.

Among his tasks as an international coordinator, he drafts memoranda of understanding with other entities and higher education institutions; he detects funding opportunities through local, national and European funds; he leads the process of submitting new project proposals. Besides that, he organizes conferences, seminars, workshops and meetings with internal staff (research, academic and administrative staff), national agencies and managing authorities, partners and any other relevant stakeholder involved at local, national and international level. He has collaborated with academics within the university and in other countries such as Finland, Italy, United Kingdom, Ireland and Turkey to build and strengthen relationships and gain successful grants through research and enterprise activities.
