

Intellectual Property Protection Unit

Introduction

The protection of the intellectual creativity has great importance from several walks of which we mention:

1 - Academically: it is important to increase the preference of the ranking of universities internationally and internally as there is a special criterion of literary ownership.

2 - from the economic point of view: great importance is not hidden to anyone, has become one of the most important sources of income for major countries and multinational companies, and we can not deny the role of supporting universities, which hosted many of the projects of student protection, was the result of successful projects globally (such as Face Book) And other examples that have become referred to Lebanon.

3- Literary: The right of every creative and innovative person to be credited to his work, and the moral credit to encourage creativity, innovation and sophistication, by protecting him from abuse, and this is what we seek to achieve in our university and our society through this program.

4 - Of particular importance to the university: as already and in the preliminary restriction of the work of a program of protection show the existence of a number of violations of intellectual property rights within and against the university, for example mentioned the theft of a documentary film from the Faculty of Information and theft of prizes from the state as the owners of this The film, and its presentation and international festivals and the media as attributed to them and not to its owners or to the university or to the Faculty of Information.

Goal : To provide the necessary protection for all forms of intellectual creativity, whether at the university level or at the level of the Egyptian society as a whole.
