

ATTRIBUTES FINAL

1. General Attributes:

The graduate holding a Bachelors degree from the Program of French Language and Translation should have the following attributes:

First: Academic Attributes:

The graduate should be able to:

1. Read, write and speak French fluently
2. Translate specialized texts (legal, political, technical, business, etc.) from and into French
3. Be competent at consecutive, simultaneous and sub-titling translation
4. Master a second language of his/her choice (Spanish, Italian, German, Turkish, Chinese) in addition to French, which is the language of specialization
5. Master the Arabic language which enables him/her to translate from and into French
6. Analyze literary texts that represent different trends of thought
7. Discriminate between the linguistic structures and communicative functions of the French language.
8. Develop an understanding of other cultures particularly the Western civilization
9. Identify with own national culture and identity.

Second: National and Cultural Attributes:

The graduate should be able to:

10. Interact with different cultures, as a result of studying French, Arabic, and another language of his/her choice
11. Respect and accept the Other, despite his/her difference
12. Participate constructively in cultural projects